The INFINITY project continues to create a brighter future for migrants by enhancing their financial literacy skills. Our comprehensive approach goes beyond financial management to also foster entrepreneurship, soft skills, and sustainability. On 4th and 5th June, we held the final transnational meeting of the project in Bonn, Germany.

Final Transnational Meeting in Bonn

This pivotal meeting focused on the concluding steps of the project, particularly the implementation of an innovative online board game. Designed to educate migrants on financial literacy in an engaging and entertaining manner, this game aims to help them achieve their entrepreneurial goals.

However, our discussions were not limited to the board game. We also focused on the development and finalisation of the e-learning platform, which is crucial for providing comprehensive and accessible financial education to migrants. This platform will be available in multiple languages, ensuring it reaches a broad audience and effectively supports their learning journey.

Advancing Work Packages 4 and 5

During the meeting, we made significant progress on the finalisation of Work Packages 4 and 5. Work Package 4 (WP4) encompasses the creation of an e-learning platform and the digital board game, both aimed at providing comprehensive and accessible financial education to migrants in an engaging manner. Work Package 5 (WP5) is the INFINITY Toolkit for teachers and educators, which includes a range of resources and tools to support educators in delivering high-quality financial education and supporting migrants in their learning journey.

Preparing for Pilot Activities and Awareness Campaigns

The meeting also focused on the upcoming pilot activities. These activities are essential for testing and refining our educational tools in real-world settings. We discussed plans for piloting these tools with teachers, migrant-related organisations, and policymakers. The feedback from these pilots will be invaluable in ensuring that our tools are effective and meet the needs of both migrants and educators.

To conclude the project, we are organising awareness-raising campaigns to highlight the achievements and innovations of the INFINITY project. These efforts will culminate in a major dissemination event where we will present the project's outcomes to the public. This event will be a celebration of our collective efforts in empowering migrants through enhanced financial literacy and entrepreneurial skills.
